ICE RINK MOVED TO BABBITT PAVILION
Everyone finally happy
By Ms. Joyce ‘13

HELL FREEZES OVER DEPT. (BABBITT PAVILION) This week, Student Activities announced they were moving the half-melted pond known as the ‘outdoor ice rink’ from its previous location outside Dunham to the Babbitt Pavilion, an action that received unanimously positive reviews from the ten students who actually care.

“I live in Bundy, so this is totally more convenient,” Alexandra Valor ‘13 said as she wiped back tears of joy. “Now, I just have to walk all the way up the hill to Babbitt instead of walking all the way up the hill to Dunham. Good move, Student Activities!”

Barry Moser ‘14 explained his sudden eagerness to try the new ice rink.

“I have always wondered what it would be like to play ice hockey on a rink the size of my bedroom. Now, I can finally find out! I think this will really improve my air hockey game, which, as you know, is a crucial life skill.”

The sudden increased popularity of the rink is posing a slight problem to the student body as exactly 0.0% of students own ice skates. Enterprise club hockey players have taken to renting out their gear to the highest bidder. As of now, there is no word on the going price for a sweaty jockstrap.

Among the many pluses of the new location, several students mentioned the obviously more romantic nature of the Babbitt Pavilion.

Will Games ‘11 detailed his ideal date, involving awkwardly shuffling around the rink in sneakers.

“My plan is foolproof!” he exclaimed. “My bed will look pretty appealing after we both nearly die from head trauma and hypothermia.”

Luckily for the entire student body, meteorologists have confirmed that it actually is slightly colder on the Darkside, meaning the new ice rink will last approximately one minute longer before turning into a swampy cesspool in the spring.

LION KING TICKET SALES CAUSE RIOT
Like the animal kingdom except in skinny jeans
By Ms. Jastrzembski ‘14

CIRCLE OF LIFE DEPT. (MAIL CENTER) What started out as an especially non-violent morning quickly escalated into an animalistic bloodshed during ticket sales for The Lion King on Broadway. The Campus Activities Board expected a modest turnout but was instead greeted by hundreds of members of the Hamilton community.

“I just thought it’d be something nice to do with my girlfriend,” Nick Thompson ‘14 said while attempting to stop blood gushing from his gaping wound. “I never knew trying to go to a play would feel like a genocide. At one point, someone held a broken bottle up to my neck and slashed my jugular when I didn’t know Simba’s middle name.”

This comment was overheard by Mark Strong ‘11, who added, “I have a chance to see one of my most beloved childhood memories immortalized on the stage, and I’ll be damned if some pussy freshman tries to weasel himself in front of me in line. You know that part when Rafiki presents baby Simba to the Pride Lands for the first time? That really resonated with me as a four-year-old. These line jumpers are not going to take away my chance to relive that experience.”

Tensions rose after 75% of the people in line were told that tickets were sold out. The consequential destruction that ensued was catastrophic, leaving the floors of the mail center and Diner littered with broken glass and severed limbs. Due to a band-aid shortage at the Health Center, many were left untreated.

“There’s only so much we can do. Tough shit!” Health Center employee Edna Schleng exclaimed. “Now, go ask that young man if you can use his sock as a tourniquet.”

CAB members were puzzled about the reasoning behind the enormous turnout but later found that many students hadn’t intended to sit through the two-hour production in the first place.

“I wasn’t even planning on going to the show,” Lisa Mandrill ‘12 proclaimed while nursing lacerations across her torso and arms. “I only wanted a cheap way to get to the city so I could get trashed. It’s something better to do on a Saturday afternoon than wake up with vomit in my hair halfway up the hill from Bundy.”

As of yet, the only confirmed deaths after the riot include nameless freshmen, Mufasa, and the hopes and dreams of the Disney-loving student body.

In this issue: not enough jokes about Greeks or fraternities

CUTE ANIMALS SAYING TERRIBLE THINGS

Welcome to Cornell.

See, “Ziggy Frowndust” pg. awww

STEELELS AND PACKERS GO HEAD-TO-HEAD
(Sounds crazier than Rex Ryan’s foot fetish)

TOUR GUIDE BENEFITS SKY ROCKET
Universal benefits? What is this, a socialist college?!
Ms. Nguyen ‘14 and Ms. Tomkin ‘12

WALKING BACKWARDS DEPT. (THE BUILDING TO YOUR LEFT) The Admissions Office, desperate to attract new tour guides, has chosen to provide greater benefits to students accepted to the tour guide position. As a result, the number of applicants for the job has increased exponentially.

While old benefits included gifts such as Hamilton-branded Nalgene bottles, pens, sunglasses, and fleece, upgraded gifts have been said to include flasks, quilts, monocles, and fur coats made of endangered pandas.

“I thought it was worth a shot when I heard about the panda coats,” Ashley Cho ‘12 said. “But not surprisingly, students with less shit on their noses were turned away from the job. While most rejected applicants have continued to go about their daily, prospie-less lives, some most rejected applicants have continued to go about their daily, prospie-less lives, some upset... in your pants.

FRIDAY
Abinthe

SATURDAY
Shrooms

SUNDAY
Peyote

HALLUCINOGEN FORECAST

50% chance The Green Fairy appears... in your pants

High probability you gain ability to crush Goombas

EVERY THING IS ON FIRE... and I’m a Sim!

Welcome to Cornell.

David Bowie didn’t get a snow delay

February 4, 2011

“Knowe Thyself; Not Be Thyself.”

Volume XVII, Issue III

THE DUEL OBSERVER
You’re driving an empty bus.

1. At Du U, five freshman, two juniors, and all the seniors who are not taking at least one class pass-fail get off in the bus. To you know, the seniors have already graduated.
2. At Minor, everyone who has ever played more than four rounds of Four-Loko-Pong gets on the bus.
3. At North, 50% of all people who enjoy studying in the Burke Library get in the bus and one junior gets off the bus.
4. At South, the number of sophomores that board the bus is equal to the number of people who’ve received blowjobs in Clinton’s public gazebo times two. The count is at two.
5. Count is at four still! See, they get transferred within the Dining Hall barthroom. The grass outside is a whole different ballgame. Count is at four.
6. That’d be one times two, which is two.
7. As the last two people get off the bus, the count goes to zero. As for the last bit, remember, I asked how many people, other than you, are in the bus after the bus is equal to the number of people who’ve received blowjobs in Clinton’s public gazebo times two.

How many people, other than you, are in the bus after the last stop?

DUEL LOGIC PUZZLE
Edited by Mr. Zappala ‘12

Outside the bubble news: Your favorite news source, besides everywhere else.

Cairo, Egypt

On Saturday, the Egyptian Interior Ministry announced that a police officer had been arrested in connection with the death of a man who was beaten to death by police in the Cairo neighborhood of Giza. The man, who was reportedly a resident of a nearby slum area, had been arrested earlier in the day for allegedly stealing a car. According to reports, the police officer had been off-duty and was drinking with friends when he allegedly attacked the man.

Local residents said that the police officer had been drinking heavily and had become aggressive and aggressive when he arrived at the scene of the crime. They said that the police officer had threatened to kill the man and had repeatedly assaulted him.

Sanaa, Yemen

In response to youth pressures, Yemen’s government has decided to maintain a policy that allows any student who attends college for free and is guaranteed a job upon graduation, showing us once again that Islam is the enemy.

Two Thirds of the U.S.A.

Blizzards paralyze the country. Someone helps FDR roll over in his grave.

How to spend your supernova Sunday

30% - “The same thing we do every Sunday, Pinky!”

Try to take over the world!

21% - Cheering on the Packers

16% - Watching Up with your girlfriend, crying more than she is.

24% - Boing the Steelers

5% - Praying the Steelers don’t cover the spread

4% - Praying the Steelers don’t cover the spread

Winter :-(

A haiku

Winter makes me sad. The snow, the snow, you damn hoes; it’s, like, in my boots.

Winter :’(

A saddest haiku

The ground is white, but it is not cocaine I think.

Friday Five: Reasons We’re Excited to See Jans on Campus!

By Mr. Magazine ’14 and Ms. Lanzotti ’14

1. We love when you stall the line at the Diner as you try to order mozzarella sticks AND chicken fingers as a side to your Philly.
2. We’re super excited to hear about how drunk you got in London and how you flashed a guard at Buckingham Palace. I mean, really, please tell us a seventh time.
3. They think it’s neat that your four month vacation really created a sense of camaraderie; plus, it’s the first time we’ve ever seen a flying-V formation on the ground!
4. Finally, some enthusiasm back at the all-campus parties! The sophomore guys won’t know what to do with themselves with all that fresh meat.
5. Really? It’s cold here? We never noticed before. Thanks for the update, Jans, what would we do without you...and everyone else who fucking says this!

Winter Winter

The snow, the snow, you damn hoes; it’s, like, in my boots.

Winter Winter

I saw your ad for foosball on Craigslist?

The Duel Observer

BRITTANY DAWN TOMKIN
Editor-in-Chief Malum X
WILLIAM CAMERON SINTON
Editor-in-Chief Kenneth Kent
JAKE CHRISTOPHER ZAPPALA
Managing Editor/ Martin Luther King Jr.
JOHN PATRICK KENNEDY
Layout Editor/ Langston Hughes
ALICIA TAYLOR SPECHT
Layout Editor Emeritus/ W.E.B. DuBois
ALISON NICOLE RITACCO
Photo Journalist/ Harriet Tubman
BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN
The Boss

Senior Staff Writers

JAMES ATTITUDD GREBEE
LESLEY ELIZABETH RYDER
ANDREW LEE ROBINSON

Staff Writers

AMO BOUMAN MAHMUD
KEVIN NATHANIEL HESS
KATHERINE JANE ADAMS
HALEY HADORA RIEMER-PELTZ
CRAWFORD MCKINLEY CHARMAN
JOHN KEVIN BOUDREAUX
COLIN NATHAN HOSTETTER
KATHERINE LOUISE JOYCE
J. ANDREW PHILLIP SCHNACKY

Contributors

ANNA ELIZABETH JASTREZBESKI
LAUREN EVELYN LANZOTTI
MICHAEL CHASE MAGAZINE JEREMY NGUYEN

Copy Editors

SARAH Mccoy Bither
CAROLYN MARIE ANDERSON

http://students.hamilton.edu/duel/

Comments?
Complaints?
Recipes?
Or find us on the internet!

Published every Friday. The facts and opinions expressed in this publication are not necessarily true or unbiased. Coincidences are coincidences.